

To LA City Planning Department

This is Spencer G Davis. I was born in Glendale and am now living in Sanland. The whitebird development will definitely affect my life style, in a negative facian.

The Verdugo Mountains and surrounding areas are and have been my backyard & playground. Currently I ride a mountain bike 3 to 4 days a week, right through one corner of the proposed whitebird development in order to gain access to the Verdugo mts.

① There is no mention in EIR, because it has not adequately recognizing the real impact this development will actually have on who it will have it on. If whitebird has it way, I will have ride or drive way around. White is going to be a huge inconvenient. There gated community will bring to a close a most loved trail used by many local residents. We will be forced to go around.

(2) Visual Impact. The E.I.R. is not recognizing the true visual impact it is going to have on the community. The cutting & terracing necessary to build so many homes will undoubtedly forever destroy the esthetic of these canyons & hills. In no way should any variances be given, in fact I urge you to decrease the number of homes they want to build. There is no mention of what an effect this will have on views from the top of the Verdugos. I spent thousands of hours over years riding & hiking in these hills, it will be a negative impact day and night no doubt.

(3) Wild life displacement. Having spent 20 some odd years roaming about in the Verdugos I do feel I'm quite uniquely qualified to comment on these matters. I am closer to the land than most, so I have had the honor of many animal sightings. Most obviously the E.I.R. did not adequately identify many of the animals that are there. I have personally see dozens of bobcat each year & have also seen Mountain lions. Mountain lions do exist in the Verdugo, many of my friends & I have seen them, mostly at night.

just because they EIR folks didn't find them tells me they didn't look hard enough or long enough. The development will displace 100 of all kinds of animals. What kind of an effect will this have on the surrounding community? There is much more there than meet the eye

I think on other EIR, report is in order
Thank you sincerely
