To whom it may concern,

I am writing to support the Hollywood Center project and ask that you move this project ahead with without delay or extension to the 45-day comment period.

I am a born and raised Angeleno and I care deeply about this city. I am passionate about the environment and making the world a livable, sustainable place not just for me but for my two daughters. The direction we are heading is not a good one – we need to completely rethink human’s impact on the environment and what it means for our future, our children’s future, and their children’s future. We can all make a difference by being conscious of our energy consumption and living sustainably. On a personal and smaller level, this means driving less and biking more. This means going plastic free. It means using less water and turning the AC down. These are all things we can do as individuals.

On a larger scale, our development needs to be sustainable and green. I’m attracted to Hollywood Center because it is a GHG net neutral project. Candidly all projects should hit this goal. I applaud this project for committed to this standard of no new emissions as a result of the project. If all projects did this, we would see no increase in pollution as a result of construction or operation of new buildings and projects. It’s transformational commitments like these that we need to tip the scales against global climate change.

Please move this project forward without delay, and please continue your efforts to address climate change. It’s the biggest issue we face.

Thank you,

Taylor Wishman
