1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 Purpose and Qualifications

The purpose of this report is to determine whether or not the former site of KCOP Channel 13 is an historic resource subject to the California Environmental Quality Act. The site is located at the northwest corner of North La Brea and Willoughby Avenues. Teresa Grimes, senior architectural historian for Christopher A. Joseph & Associates, was responsible for the preparation of this report. With over fifteen years of experience in the field of historic preservation and a M.A. in Architecture, Ms. Grimes more than fulfills the qualifications for historic preservation professionals outlined in 36 CFR, Part 61.

1.2. Methodology

In conducting the analysis of potential impacts, the following tasks were performed:

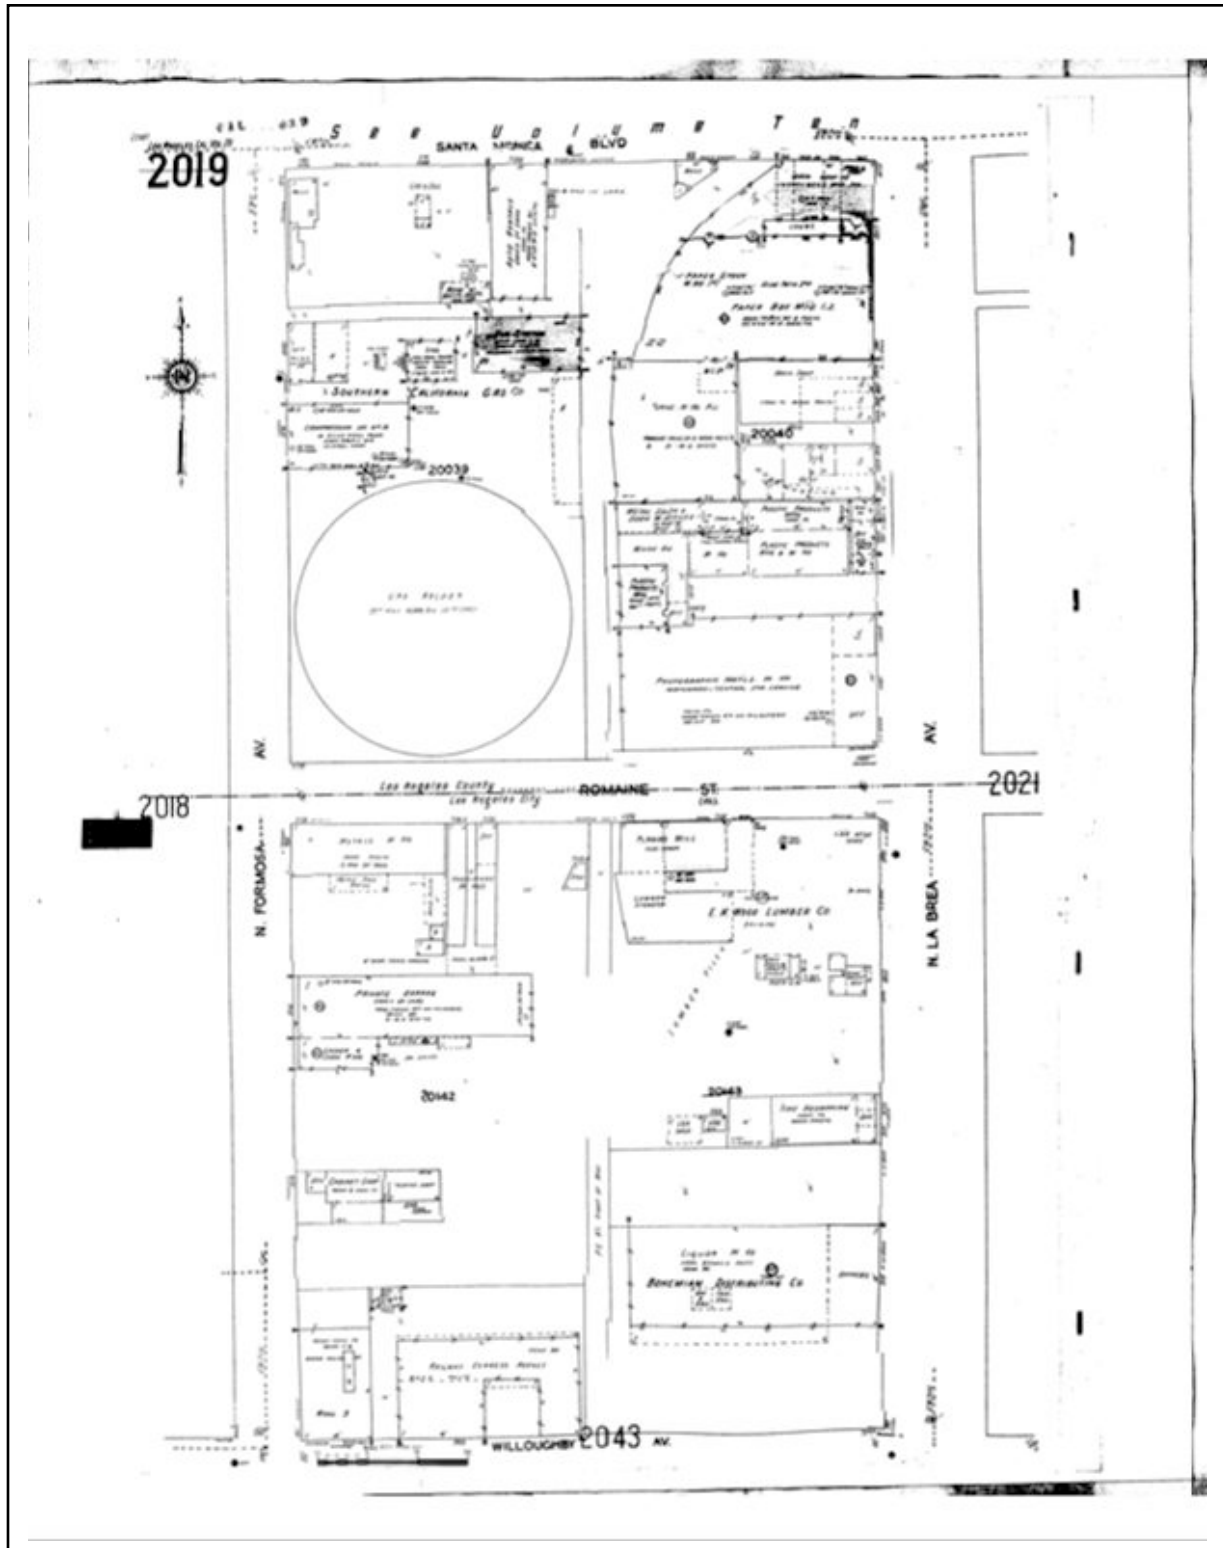

1. Conducted a field inspection of the site and surrounding area to determine the current physical condition, integrity, and setting. Photographs were taken during the site visit.
2. Reviewed the building permit records obtained from the City of Los Angeles Department of Building and Safety to determine the dates of original construction and subsequent alterations.
3. Researched the history and context of the property at the Los Angeles Public Library including a review of historic maps of the site, historic photographs of television stations as well as North La Brea Avenue, and books and articles.
4. Reviewed and analyzed ordinances, statutes, regulations, bulletins, and technical materials relating to federal, state, and local historic preservation designations, and assessment processes and programs.

1.3. Historic Overview

There are two large buildings on the property, a small guard shack, another small building, and various satellite communication dishes with the addresses 915 North La Brea Avenue and 7165 Willoughby Avenue.

In the early 1920s the Shell Oil Company owned the eastern portion of the property. The building permit records indicate that the company constructed several wood-framed buildings there including a garage, office, truck filling station, and warehouse. The Sanborn Fire Insurance Map (Map 1) of the site indicates that by 1950 the property was no longer used by the Shell Oil Company and that most of the buildings had been replaced. At 915 North La Brea Avenue there was a warehouse used by the Bohemian Distributing Company. Building permits document that this building, which was later adapted and remodeled by KCOP, was constructed in 1948. Willoughby Avenue, between La Brea and Formosa Avenues, was occupied by the Railway

Map 1: 1950 Sanborn Fire Insurance Map

Express Agency. The Los Angeles County Tax Assessor records document that this one-story U-shaped building was constructed in 1946, presumably for the Railway Express Agency. In 1956 the warehouse at 915 North La Brea Avenue was owned by McGowan Productions and used as a motion picture studio. The following year they constructed a two-story addition to the warehouse that extended south along La Brea Avenue to the corner of Willoughby Avenue.

In 1959, KCOP purchased both buildings, i.e., the warehouse at 915 North La Brea Avenue and the one-story U-shaped building at 7165 Willoughby Avenue. They adapted these buildings for the purposes of operating a television broadcast studio. Over the years, these two buildings were altered many times. The guard shack was constructed in 1979. The physical integrity of the site and the buildings thereon is difficult to assess the original appearance of the buildings is unknown and as the building permit record is spotty. It can be said; however, that the site has no sense of design cohesion.

KCOP was founded by Dorothy Schiff, the owner of the New York Post as well as various radio stations in New York, San Francisco, and Los Angeles. One of the radio stations she owned in Los Angeles was KMTR-AM, which was located on Cahuenga Boulevard between Romaine and Eleanor Avenues. KCOP shared facilities as well as call letters with KMTR when they began broadcasting in September of 1948. The first telecast was of a football game between the University of Southern California and the University of Utah. At the time, there were 16,000 television sets in the Los Angeles area serving a total population of four million people. Soon the call letters were changed to KLAC and the moniker “Lucky 13” was adopted. Mortimer Hall, Schiff’s son who lived in Los Angeles, acted as president and general manager.

In 1954, the Colpey Press, owners of The San Diego Union-Tribune, purchased KLAC and changed the call letters to KCOP. Six years later, Chris-Craft Industries bought the station and moved it to North La Brea Avenue. The station remained there until 2002. It was here that celebrities such as Del Moore, Betty White, and Liberace first performed on television. In 1995, Chris-Craft Industries and its subsidiary, United Television partnered with Paramount Pictures to form the United Paramount Network (UPN). KCOP then became the network’s West Coast flagship station.

Chris-Craft sold its television stations to Fox in 2002, and soon after that transaction, KCOP integrated its operations with KTTV. The North La Brea Avenue facilities were abandoned when KCOP moved to the KTTV facilities in West Los Angeles. The facilities have since been rented to individual production companies.

2. ENVIRONMENTAL SETTING

2.1. Regulatory Environment

Generally, a lead agency must consider a property an historic resource under the California Environmental Quality Act if it is eligible for listing in the California Register of Historical Resources (California Register). The California Register is modeled after the National Register of Historic Places (National Register). Furthermore, a property is presumed to be historically significant if it is listed in a local register of historic resources or has been identified as historically significant in an historic resources survey (provided certain criteria and requirements are satisfied) unless a preponderance of evidence demonstrates that the property is not historically or culturally significant.<sup>1</sup> The National and California Register designation programs are discussed below.

National Register of Historic Places

The National Register is "an authoritative guide to be used by federal, state, and local governments, private groups and citizens to identify the nation's cultural resources and to indicate what properties should be considered for protection from destruction or impairment."<sup>2</sup>

Criteria

To be eligible for listing in the National Register, a property must be at least 50 years of age and possess significance in American history and culture, architecture, or archaeology. A property of potential significance must meet one or more of four established criteria:<sup>3</sup>

- A. Associated with events that have made a significant contribution to the broad patterns of our history; or
- B. Associated with the lives of persons significant in our past; or
- C. Embody the distinctive characteristics of a type, period, or method of construction or that represent the work of a master, or that possess high artistic values, or that represent a significant and distinguishable entity whose components may lack individual distinction; or

- D. Yield, or may be likely to yield, information important in prehistory or history.

Physical Integrity

According to National Register Bulletin 15, "to be eligible for listing in the National Register, a property must not only be shown to be significant under National Register criteria, but it also must have integrity." Integrity is defined in National Register Bulletin 15 as "the ability of a property to convey its significance." Within the concept of integrity, the National Register recognizes seven aspects or qualities that in various combinations define integrity. They are feeling, association, workmanship, location, design, setting, and materials.<sup>4</sup>

Context

To be eligible for listing in the National Register, a property must also be significant with an historic context. National Register Bulletin 15 states that the significance of an historic property can be judged only when it is evaluated within its historic context. Historic contexts are "those patterns, themes, or trends in history by which a specific...property or site is understood and its meaning...is made clear."<sup>5</sup> A property must represent an important aspect of the area's history or prehistory and possess the requisite integrity to qualify for the National Register.

Criteria Considerations

Certain kinds of properties, like those less than 50 years of age, are not usually considered eligible for listing in the National Register. 50 years is the general estimate of the time needed to develop historical perspective and to evaluate significance. These properties can be eligible for listing; however, if they meet special requirements called Criteria Considerations, in addition to meeting the regular requirements. National Register Bulletin 15 states that a property less than 50 years of age may be eligible for the National Register if it is of exceptional importance.<sup>6</sup>

California Register of Historical Resources

In 1992, Governor Wilson signed AB 2881 into law establishing the California Register. The California Register is an authoritative guide used by state and local agencies, private groups and citizens to identify historic resources and to indicate what properties are to be protected, to the extent prudent and feasible, from substantial adverse change.

The California Register consists of properties that are listed automatically as well as those that must be nominated through an application and public hearing process.<sup>7</sup> The California Register automatically includes the following:

- California properties listed in the National Register and those formally Determined Eligible for the National Register.
- California Registered Historical Landmarks from No. 0770 onward.
- Those California Points of Historical Interest that have been evaluated by the Office of Historic Preservation (OHP) and have been recommended to the State Historical Resources Commission for inclusion on the California Register.

The criteria for eligibility of listing in the California Register are based upon National Register criteria, but are identified as 1-4 instead of A-D. To be eligible for listing in the California Register, a property must be at least 50 years of age and possess significance at the local, state, or national level, under one or more of the following four criteria:

1. It is associated with events that have made a significant contribution to the broad patterns of local or regional history, or the cultural heritage of California or the United States; or
2. It is associated with the lives of persons important to local, California, or national history; or
3. It embodies the distinctive characteristics of a type, period, or method of construction or represents the work of a master, or possesses high artistic values; or
4. It has yielded, or has the potential to yield, information important in the prehistory or history of the local area, California, or the nation.

Historic resources eligible for listing in the California Register may include buildings, sites, structures, objects, and historic districts. Resources less than 50 years of age may be eligible if it can be demonstrated that sufficient time has passed to understand its historical importance. While the enabling legislation for the California Register is less rigorous with regard to the issue of integrity, there is the expectation that properties reflect their appearance during their period of significance.<sup>8</sup>

3. EVALUATION OF SIGNIFICANCE

The former site of KCOP is not currently listed as a landmark at the national, state, or local levels. Nor has the site been identified as significant in an historic resources survey. The site is ineligible for listing in the National Register because it was not associated with KCOP until 1960, and therefore does not meet the minimum 50-year age requirement. Furthermore, the site does not appear to meet Criterion Consideration G, which requires properties less than 50 years of age to be of exceptional importance. Properties do not necessarily need to be at least 50 years of age to be eligible for listing in the California Register. It must be demonstrated; however, that sufficient time has passed to understand their historical importance. There is a considerable body of knowledge on the history of television in Los Angeles to find that KCOP is not significant in this context.

3.1. California Register of Historic Resources

Criterion 1 – The former site of KCOP appears to be ineligible under Criterion 1 as it is not associated with events that have made a significant contribution to the broad patterns of our history. One historic context was considered in the evaluation of significance under Criterion 1, the history of television in Los Angeles. The site is not significant in this context primarily because it is not the original location of KCOP. The station began broadcasting in September of 1948 and moved from their original location on Cahuenga Boulevard to existing buildings on North La Brea Avenue in 1960.

Today there are thirteen commercial television stations in Los Angeles. Four are associated with national networks (ABC, CBS, NBC, and Fox) and the remaining are independent. Seven of the stations received commercial licenses from the FCC in 1946, although they did not begin broadcasting at the same time. Two of these stations, W6XAO (now KCBS) and W6XYZ (now KTLA) had been operating since the 1930s with experimental licenses and continued to be leaders in the industry. From the beginning, the television industry in Los Angeles was interconnected with other forms of media and entertainment such as newspapers, radio, and motion pictures.

The pioneer television broadcaster in Los Angeles was Don Lee, who had exclusive California distribution rights for Cadillac cars. Seeking a suitable advertising medium, he used his earnings to create a broadcast network. He began in 1926 by purchasing a radio station in San Francisco, KFRC-AM. A year later he purchased KHJ-AM in Los Angeles. These two stations became the first links in a chain of radio and television stations that would become the Don Lee Broadcast System, the first broadcast network on the West Coast. He and his son, Thomas S.

Lee, together with an electrical engineer, Harry R. Lubcke, established a studio at 7th & Bixel Streets, having been granted a license for experimental station W6XAO-TV. The station went on the air on December 23, 1931. At the time, there were only five television sets in the entire city.

Lee's operation broadcasted regularly for one hour a day, six days a week. This was eight years before NBC established its first station in New York City. W6XAO used equipment created and designed by Lubcke. As television sets were not yet produced commercially, the station provided detailed instructions for the construction of homemade ones.

W6XAO established a number of firsts in the field including: the first full-length movie ever broadcast on television, The Crooked Circle; the first use of kinescope, a film transmitted program; the first "simulcast" on radio and television; the first broadcast of a rapid process newsreel, the Long Beach earthquake; the first remote broadcast in the West, the Rose Parade; and the first commercially sponsored telecast in Los Angeles.

W6XAO was granted a commercial license by the newly established FCC in July of 1941, but the station declined to go commercial until after World War II. In 1947, ground was broke for a new radio and television studio on Vine Street between Homewood and Fountain. This building is now the Pickford Center for Motion Picture Study. In the 1950s, the station was purchased by CBS, and the call letters changed to KCBS. The station briefly moved to CBS Columbia Square and then to CBS Television City in the Fairfax District. The news division; however, remained at CBS Columbia Square.

Meanwhile, a second experimental television station was formed in 1939, although they did not take to the air until 1942. Realizing the potential competition that television might pose for motion pictures, Paramount established the experimental station, W6XYZ-TV next to their lot at Melrose and Bronson. Much of the development of the station can be attributed to Klaus Landsberg, a German electronics expert. A regular bi-weekly program was established in 1943.

After World War II, W6XYZ increased programming dramatically and specialized in sports coverage. The station had a direct tie line with the Pan Pacific Auditorium, the primer venue for sporting events at the time, and televised six nights a week although there were still only five hundred sets locally. On January 22, 1947, W6XYZ became first commercial broadcasting station west of Chicago and the call letters were changed to KTLA. Commercial licensing by the FCC enabled a television station to solicit advertisers to pay for programming. The primer client for KTLA was Tupan Motors, and automobile dealership. Non-commercial, or experimental stations bore the entire cost of operations and programs.

In 1958, KTLA relocated to the old Warner Brothers lot on Sunset Boulevard, which Paramount had purchased in 1954. They continue to be housed in the building that was originally constructed for Vitaphone and then used by Looney Tunes. Paramount continued operating KTLA until the license and facility were sold to Golden West Broadcasters, a holding company founded by cowboy star Gene Autry. 1967 Golden West bought the entire 10-acre studio site as well. Golden West Broadcasters was sold to Kohlberg, Kravis, Roberts & Company in 1982. The Tribune Company purchased KTLA from Golden West in 1985 and the studio site three years later.

In June of 1946, the FCC held hearings in Los Angeles to consider applicants for commercial television stations. There were eight applicants for seven channels allocated to Los Angeles. They included the aforementioned experimental stations owned by Television Productions Inc. (a subsidiary of Paramount Pictures) and the Don Lee Broadcasting System; American Broadcasting Company (ABC); the National Broadcasting Company (NBC); Earle C. Anthony; Dorothy Schiff; the Times-Mirror Corporation; and the Hughes Tool Company, which later withdrew its application. All were granted licenses as well as construction permits and as previously mentioned, Paramount was the first to begin commercial broadcasting.

In 1948, KTLA was joined by W6XAO, KLAC, and KFI-TV. W6XAO changed its call letters to KTSL and formed a mutual cooperation pact with the Los Angeles Herald Examiner. As previously mentioned, the station was purchased by CBS in the 1950s. The history of KLAC (now KCOP) is discussed above in the Historic Overview section of this report.

Earl C. Anthony, the exclusive dealer for the Packard Automobile Company in Los Angeles, founded KFI-TV. Anthony also owned KFI-AM radio, which was an affiliate of NBC. For a brief period, KFI-TV functioned as the Los Angeles television affiliate of NBC. NBC was also granted a commercial license and by January of 1949, they had established KNBH, which is now KNBC. At that time, KFI-TV became an independent station. In 1951, RKO General acquired the station and the call letters were changed to KHJ-TV. KHJ-AM was also owned by RKO and housed near their studios on Melrose Avenue. Between 1989 and 1995, the station was owned by the Walt Disney Company. At that time the call letters were changed to KCAL. In 1995, Disney purchased Capital Cities/ABC, which owned KABC. Due to FCC regulations at the time, Disney was not allowed to own both stations. So they decided to keep KABC and sell KCAL to Young Broadcasting. KCAL is now located in the CBS Columbia Square building on Sunset Boulevard.

KTTV began broadcasting on January 1, 1949. Times-Mirror Corporation and CBS jointly owned the station, although each had applied for and received a license from the FCC. Originally, the Times-Mirror Corporation had partnered with the Pasadena Playhouse to supply entertainment programming, but the relationship fizzled before a station could be constructed. CBS attempted several times to buy out the Times-Mirror Corporation. Finally, CBS divested from KTTV and purchased KTSL. KTTV then became independent and is now a Fox affiliate. In 1996, the station moved near the Fox network headquarters in West Los Angeles and vacated their longtime home on Sunset Boulevard known as Metromedia Square. The Los Angeles Unified School District purchased the property, which was originally a movie studio, and demolished all of the buildings.

KNBH went on the air on January 16, 1949 and continues to be owned by NBC. The call letters were changed to KRCA in 1954 and to KNBC in 1960. The station was originally located in the NBC Radio City Studios at Sunset Boulevard and Vine Street in Hollywood. In 1962, the station relocated to the newly built NBC Studios (also known then as NBC Color City) in Burbank.

On September 16, 1949, KECA began broadcasting. Earle C. Anthony who also owned KFI-TV owned the station. In 1948, he purchased the old Vitagraph/Warner Brothers lot at Prospect and Talmadge Avenues in the Los Feliz/Silverlake area and began constructing the largest television studio in the world. In 1954 he sold the station to ABC. The station remained at the Prospect Studios until 2000. By then, Capital Cities/ABC had been purchased by the Walt Disney Company, which moved the station to Burbank.

KCOP (briefly KMTR and then KLAC) was founded by Dorothy Schiff, the longtime owner of the New York Post as well as other television and radio stations. KCOP was one of several television stations that were founded by newspaper publishers. The Times-Mirror Corporation was the joint owner of KTTV, and KTSL (later KTLA) formed a mutual cooperation pact with the Los Angeles Herald Examiner. The collaboration between television stations and newspapers reflected the desire for a more immediate distribution of the news.

KCOP moved from their original location on Cahuenga Boulevard to existing buildings on North La Brea Avenue in 1960. The facility they shared with KMTR-AM has since been demolished. None of the other older stations in Los Angeles are located in their original facilities; however, several still stand and would be significant in the history of television provided they retain their physical integrity from the period of significance. The others include: the Don Lee Broadcast Studio in Hollywood was home to KTSL (now KCBS) from 1947-51 and home to California Community Television (later KCET) from 1965-71; CBS Television City in the Fairfax District was constructed specifically as a television studio in 1952 and has been home to KCBS ever since; the Old Warner Brothers Studios on Sunset Boulevard has been home to KTLA since 1958; and Prospect Studios was home to KABC from 1949 until 2000.

Criterion 2 – The former site of KCOP is not significant under Criterion 2 because it is not associated with the lives of persons important to local, California, or national history. Dorothy Schiff who is significant in the context of news media including newspaper, television, and radio founded KCOP, but she sold to the Copley Press in 1954, six years before the station was moved to North La Brea Avenue. Therefore the site is not associated with Schiff.

Criterion 3 – The former site of KCOP is not architecturally significant in any respect. The two main buildings on the site are utilitarian in design and do not embody the distinctive characteristics of a type, period, or method of construction. The main warehouse building on the site was erected in 1948. The original permit was not on file with the City of Los Angeles Department of Building and Safety. McGowan Productions modified the building in 1956. The architect was J.R.Wyatt. The following year the addition along North La Brea Avenue was constructed, but no architect was identified on the permit. The one-story, U-shaped building at 7165 Willoughby Avenue was constructed in 1946, but again, the original permit was not on file with the City of Los Angeles Department of Building and Safety. Both buildings have been repeatedly altered by KCOP. As the original architects for either building is unknown, it cannot be demonstrated that they represent the work of a master.

Criterion 4 – Criterion 4, archeological significance, was not considered in this analysis.

4. PROJECT IMPACTS

4.1. Determining the Significance of Impacts on Historical Resources

In enacting the California Register, the Legislature amended CEQA to clarify which properties are significant, as well as which project impacts are considered to be significantly adverse.

A project that may cause a substantial adverse change in the significance of a historical resource is a project that may have a significant effect on the environment.<sup>9</sup>

A substantial adverse change means demolition, destruction, relocation, or alteration of the resource such that the significance of an historical resource would be materially impaired.<sup>10</sup>

The State CEQA Guidelines include a slightly different definition of “substantial adverse change”:

Substantial adverse change in the significance of an historical resource means physical demolition, destruction, relocation, or alteration of the resource or its immediate surroundings such that the significance of an historical resource would be materially impaired.<sup>11</sup>

The Guidelines go on to state that “the significance of a historic resource is materially impaired when a project demolishes or materially alters in an adverse manner those physical characteristics that convey its significance and that justify its inclusion in or eligibility for inclusion in the California Register, local register, or its identification in a historic resources survey.”<sup>12</sup>

According to National Register Bulletin 15, to be eligible for listing in the National Register, a property must not only be shown to be significant under National Register criteria, but it must also have integrity. Integrity is defined as the ability of a property to convey its significance.

As such, the test for determining whether or not the Project will have a significant impact on the identified historic resources is whether it will materially impair their physical integrity such that they would no longer be listed in the National or California Registers or other landmark programs.

4.2. Impacts of Proposed Project

The Project will have no impact on historic resources as the former site of KCOP is not an historic resource subject to CEQA. It is not currently listed as a landmark at the national, state, or local levels. Nor has the site been identified as significant in an historic resources survey. The site is ineligible for listing in the National Register because it was not associated with KCOP until 1960, and therefore does not meet the minimum 50-year age requirement. It does not appear to be eligible for listing in the California Register primarily because it is not the original location of KCOP. The station began broadcasting in September of 1948 and moved from their original location on Cahuenga Boulevard to existing buildings on North La Brea Avenue in 1960. There are other properties that better reflect the history of television because they are older and associated with stations that are considered leaders in the industry. They include: the Don Lee Broadcast Studio (1947-51) in Hollywood was home to KTSL; CBS Television City in the Fairfax District was constructed specifically as a television studio in 1952 and has been home to KCBS ever since; the Old Warner Brothers Studios on Sunset Boulevard has been home to KTLA since 1958; and Prospect Studios was home to KABC from 1949 until 2000.

RE: Record Search Results for La Brea Gateway Project

Dear Mr. Sharp,

As per your request received on May 23, 2007, a records search was conducted for the above referenced project. The search includes a review of all recorded archaeological sites within a 1/2-mile radius of the project site as well as a review of cultural resource reports on file. In addition, the California Points of Historical Interest (PHI), the California Historical Landmarks (CHL), the California Register of Historical Resources (CR), the National Register of Historic Places (NR), the California State Historic Resources Inventory (HRI), and the City of Los Angeles Historic-Cultural Monuments listings were reviewed for the above referenced project site. The following is a discussion of the findings.

Due to the sensitive nature of cultural resources, archaeological site locations are not released.

Hollywood, CA. USGS 7.5' Quadrangle

ARCHAEOLOGICAL RESOURCES:

No archaeological sites have been identified within a 1/2-mile radius of the project site. No sites are located within the project site. This does not preclude the potential for archaeological sites to be identified during project activities. No isolates have been identified within a 1/2-mile radius of the project site. No isolates are located within the project site.

HISTORIC RESOURCES:

One additional cultural resource (19-187439) has been identified within a 1/2-mile radius of the project site. This cultural resource is not located within the project site.

A review of the historic maps - Santa Monica (1902 and 1921) 15' USGS - indicated that in 1902 there were two improved roads and four structures within a 1/2-mile radius of the project site. In 1921 there were fifteen improved roads, one unimproved road, and an unknown number of structures within a 1/2-mile of the project site.

The California Point of Historical Interest (2006) of the Office of Historic Preservation, Department of Parks and Recreation, lists no properties within a 1/2-mile radius of the project site.

The California Historical Landmarks (2006) of the Office of Historic Preservation, Department of Parks and Recreation, lists one property within a 1/2-mile radius of the project site (see below).

No. 160          Plummer Park and Oldest House in Hollywood

Known as the "Oldest House in Hollywood," this house was built in the 1870s by Eugene Raphael Plummer, marked by Milly Barrett Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, January 29, 1956, Historic Landmark No. 160, California State Park Commission. Located at 7377 Santa Monica Blvd, Hollywood (Los Angeles).

The California Register of Historical Places (2006) lists one property within a 1/2-mile radius of the project site (see below, and see HRI property marked with a star). These are properties determined to have a National Register of Historic Places Status of 1 or 2, a California Historical Landmark numbering 770 and higher, or a Point of Historical Interest listed after 1/1/1998.

"Toberman Storage Company, Bekins Van Lines", located at 1025 N. Highland Ave.

The National Register of Historic Places lists one property within a 1/2-mile radius of the project site (see below, and see HRI property marked with a star).

"Toberman Storage Company, Bekins Van Lines", located at 1025 N. Highland Ave.

The City of Los Angeles Historic-Cultural Monuments lists two properties within a 1/2-mile radius of the project site (see below).

No. 508          Gilmore Gasoline Service Station

Was built for the Gilmore Oil Company in 1935 and designed by engineer R.J. Kadow. This Art Deco structure is evocative of the 1930's and has been pictured in Magazines, films and videos. Located at 859 North Highland Avenue. Declared: 3/23/92

No. 527          Residence

A California Craftsman bungalow built in 1913. At one time the area was rich with this type of architecture but much of the original building stock has been removed, making the remaining bungalows more significant. Located at 1437 North Martel Avenue. Declared: 4/2/91

The California Historic Resources Inventory (2006) lists sixty-four properties that have been evaluated for historical significance within a 1/2-mile radius of the project site (see enclosed list).

PREVIOUS CULTURAL RESOURCES INVESTIGATIONS:

Five studies (LA447, LA1350, LA6406, LA7354, and LA7772) have been conducted within a 1/2-mile radius of the project site. Of these, none are located within the project site. There are thirty-one additional investigations located on the Hollywood 7.5' USGS Quadrangle that are potentially within a 1/2-mile radius of the project site. The reports are not mapped due to insufficient locational information.

RECOMMENDATIONS

According to our records, the project site has not been subjected to any previous studies and archaeological sensitivity is unknown. Although the project occurs in an urban area where the surface and subsurface appears to have been previously disturbed, there is still potential for buried prehistoric and / or historic resources within the project boundaries. If any building(s) 45 years and older will be affected by the proposed project, it is recommended that the building(s) be assessed and evaluated for potential historical significance. Furthermore, the project area should be monitored during ground disturbing activities.

The professional archaeologist / architectural historian you retain may request the records search map, archaeological site records, and bibliography from the Information Center by referencing the SCCIC number listed above for a fee (per the fee schedule).

If you have any questions regarding the results presented herein, please contact the office at 714.278.5395 Monday through Thursday 8:00 am to 3:30 pm.

Should you require any additional information for the above referenced project, reference the SCCIC number listed above when making inquiries. Requests made after initial invoicing will result in the preparation of a separate invoice.

Sincerely,
SCCIC

re: Paleontological resources for the proposed La Brea Gateway, in the City of Los Angeles, Los Angeles County, project area

Dear Evan:

I have conducted a thorough search of our paleontology collection records for the locality and specimen data for the proposed La Brea Gateway, in the City of Los Angeles, Los Angeles County, project area as outlined on the map that you sent to me on 23 May 2007 covered by the Hollywood USGS quadrangle map. We do not have any fossil vertebrate localities that lie directly within the boundaries of the proposed project area, but we do have localities nearby from the same sedimentary deposits that occur on the project property.

The surficial deposits in the proposed project area consist of older Quaternary Alluvium, derived as fan deposits from the Hollywood Hills to the north, that grades down into older Quaternary deposits typically referred to as the Palos Verdes Sand in this area. Our closest vertebrate fossil locality from these deposits is LACM 3371, southwest of the proposed project area near the intersection of Sierra Bonita Avenue and Oakwood Avenue, that produced specimens of fossil bison, Bison antiquus, at a depth of 12 feet. Further westward our locality LACM 2034 [equals LACM 3261], also southwest of the proposed project area near the intersection of Kilkea Drive and Beverly Boulevard, produced fossil specimens of mastodon, Mammut americanum, and mammoth, Mammuthus, at unknown depth. We have two vertebrate fossil localities from excavations for the The Grove project, southwest of the proposed project area south of Beverly Boulevard: LACM 7478, that produced fossil specimens of pocket gopher, Thomomys, at a depth of 46 feet; and LACM 7495, that produced a fossil fauna containing specimens of pond turtle, Clemmys, garter snake, Thamnophis, mammoth, Mammuthus columbi, cottontail rabbit, Sylvilagus, kangaroo rat, Dipodomys, meadow mouse, Microtus, pocket gopher, Thomomys, horse, Equus occidentalis, bison, Bison antiquus, and camel, Camelops hesternus, at a depth of about 10 feet. Furthermore, we have several vertebrate fossil localities from excavations at the nearby Park La Brea: LACM 7513-7516, south-southwest of the proposed project area south of Third Street between Curson Avenue and

"...to inspire wonder, discovery and responsibility for our natural and cultural worlds."

Genesee Avenue; and LACM 7517-7518, just west of due south of the proposed project area south of Third Street near the intersection with Fuller Avenue. These localities produced a similar fauna containing fossil specimens of garter snake, Thamnophis, ground sloth, Glossotherium harlani, cottontail rabbit, Sylvilagus, kangaroo rat, Dipodomys, meadow mouse, Microtus californicus, deer mouse, Peromyscus, pocket gopher, Thomomys, spotted skunk, Spilogale, horse, Equus occidentalis, and camel, Camelops hesternus, at depths as shallow as 3 feet.

We have a great number of vertebrate fossil localities further south of the proposed project area at the internationally famous Ranch La Brea deposits in Hancock Park and from Brea deposits in the surrounding area. These Brea deposits apparently do not extend as far north as the proposed project area.

Even shallow excavations in the proposed project site area have a good chance of uncovering significant vertebrate fossils in older Quaternary sediments exposed and at depth. Therefore, any substantial excavations in the proposed project area should be closely monitored to quickly and professionally collect any specimens without impeding development. Note that some of the fossils recovered from the Quaternary deposits in the immediate vicinity are very small and can only be detected by screen-washing and picking matrix because they would be missed during typical paleontological monitoring. We recommend that sediment samples from these deposits be collected and processed to determine their suitability for producing vertebrate microfossils. Any fossils recovered during mitigation should be deposited in an accredited and permanent scientific institution for the benefit of current and future generations.

This records search covers only the vertebrate paleontology records of the Natural History Museum of Los Angeles County. It is not intended to be a thorough paleontological survey of the proposed project area covering other institutional records, a literature survey, or any potential on-site survey.

Sincerely,

Samuel A. McLeod, Ph.D.
