Hello Bradley

Thank you for your email. We are sorry for the late response, Mr. Salas has just lost both his parents in January 1 week apart and is in mourning. We are trying our best to get back to everyone as soon as possible. We will be sending over information as soon as possible.

Thank you

Sincerely,

Hello,

I'm following up on my email summarizing our initial discussion. Does the tribe still intend to provide the city with information, maps, etc. on the site's history that can be shared with the consultant?

Hello,

Thank you for taking the time to speak with us today. I wanted to follow up with a summary of our discussion from today's call.

- Tribe briefly discussed the history of the site, which is within a travel route to fulvic acid.
- Tar from tar pits is considered a cultural resource.
- The tribe is interested in the native soil below ground.
- The tribe will provide the city with information, maps, etc. on the site's history that can be shared with the consultant.
