

Hyperion Treatment Plant TOUR

CHOOSE Ocean outfall - into the Bay

D R A G ◀ PREVIOUS NEXT ▶ P R I N T

Ocean outfall - into the Bay

Most of the wastewater that leaves secondary treatment is pumped from the plant into Santa Monica Bay through a five-mile long pipe (outfall) at a depth of 190 feet. The effluent more than meets all federal and State clean water standards, and is compatible with Bay waters and the creatures that live there.

