

Ethics Commission Seeks Feedback on Lobbying Law Recommendations

At City Planning, transparency and accountability is crucial to what we do. Clarity drives our internal operations and informs how we approach outreach with the communities we serve. That is why we want to remind you that there is still time for public comment regarding the City's lobbying laws and the Ethics Commission's 2018 recommendations (see Council File No. 18-0171).

Public comment can be made three ways:

- Anytime before/during the Ethics Commission's meetings via their online form
- During their Jan. 12, 13, or 14 via Zoom participation, or
- By emailing ethics.policy@lacity.org.

Please tell the Ethics Commission what you think about the 2018 recommendations or the lobbying laws in general, and how they apply to lobbying entities such as lobbyists, lobbyist employers, lobbying firms, development expeditors, Business Improvement Districts, nonprofit organizations, etc.

Thank you and have a healthy New Year!
